Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday Chapters

Weavers Way's three Dining For Women chapters, now six years old, keep evolving and changing, spinning off new projects, and building friendships and bridges. Our giving circles, based on gathering for a monthly potluck dinner and supporting an international women's empowerment program vetted by representatives of our 400 fellow chapters, give us a chance to help other women but also meet great local people.

One of our new members, Laura Cohn, recently relocated in the heart of West Mt. Airy, here from Bala. But Laura's heart is really in Bali, where she worked and studied batik, for over six years. Nearly a decade ago she combined her love of Indonesian culture and art with her entrepreneurial savvy launching From Bali to Bala, an annual pop-up store in Chestnut Hill. Laura travels to Indonesia each year to acquire artwork direct from artisans with whom she has a long-term connection, stocking her annual Holiday Sale of Unique Indonesian Handcrafts and Gifts.

This year Dining For Women is pleased to announce that our annual Holiday Fund Raiser will be graciously hosted by Laura at her storefront on Thursday, November 30th. We will enjoy a scrumptious Indonesian dinner catered by a local Indonesian chef, Pecel Ndeso. Laura will be donating 10% of the proceeds of any gifts bought that evening to Dining For Women. We will also have a Silent Auction, including a 10-pack of yoga classes at Maguyoga, a weekend at a beautiful central Pennsylvania farm, and dinners for two at local restaurants Bacio and Fiorinos, and additional great items.

Advance tickets are required; there may be room for a few walk-in guests, but we cannot guarantee it. Early Bird tickets (until November 15th) are each $25, after which they are $30. They can be purchased by sending a check made out to Dining For Women and mailing it to Ann Mintz, 508 Wellesley Road, Philadelphia, PA, 19119. You can also drop a check off at From Bali to Bala. See you there! It will be a fabulous evening!
